COVID-19 service addendum

This addendum outlines health and safety expectations for the service agreement between

"us": Backthird Entertainment and "you": [your name]
originallly signed on: [original date]

Backthird Entertainment is taking extra precautions to protect your guests, our performers and the health of our communities as long as novel coronavirus remains a significant risk. But public health is a group effort. Here's what you can expect of us, and what we ask of you.

Your Responsibilities to Us

Your event plan should adhere to laws and public health guidelines established for your area. This means

- Guests should be encouraged to wear face coverings when not eating or drinking.
- Guests should be encouraged to keep 6' apart whenever possible.
- Total number of people at your event should not exceed that allowed by area authorities. (Note that in Illinois, events could be limited to 50 guests until a vaccine is widely available.)
- Any guests who have, in the last 14 days, experienced symptoms consistent with COVID-19, including fever, fatigue, increased breathing difficulty and other symptoms as described by public health authorities – should NOT attend.

If our performers see these basic guidelines are not being followed and we feel your event represents a risk to public health or to our own health, we reserve the right to cease services immediately and/or leave your event, and to retain all monies paid for services.

Our Responsibilities to You

Our performers will also adhere to laws and public health guidelines established for your area, and we'll use additional best practices established for our own industry.

- We'll wear face coverings when not eating, drinking or making public announcements.
- We'll keep 6' of distance between ourselves and guests whenever possible. For example:
  - DJs will remain behind the DJ booth except when needed for coordination, set up or departure. Guests should not come behind the DJ booth.
  - Musicians will set up in a clearly marked performance area and remain there except when needed for coordination, set up or departure. Guests should not enter the musician performance area.
- If appropriate, DJs will provide a designated microphone on a stand for guest speeches. Guests should not handle it. We'll disinfect the microphone after use.
- If appropriate, DJs will make one set of announcements encouraging guests to follow health guidelines and maintain social distancing (e.g. "tonight let's dance in our table area instead of packing the dance floor.")

We are not liable for guest behavior throughout the night, and we won't force guests to keep masks on or practice

By signing below, each party agrees to all statements above and releases Backthird Entertainment from any and all liability for intentional or unintentional exposure or harm due to COVID-19 and the coronavirus it produces.

In the event that the wedding is not able to take place because of COVID regulations, Backthird will accomodate one postponement, free of charge. Should the event need to be postponed or cancelled again, for any reason, you'll need to pay a $300 rebooking fee to cover our costs of processing and reassigning performers and resources.

Our cancellation policy remains the same as in your original agreement.
